

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Faculty of History

African Economic History Seminar

Lent Term 2022

Time: five Tuesdays, 17:00-18:30

Venue: Audit Room, King's College (3 meetings)

Or online (revised to 1 meeting)

Convenors: Gareth Austin and Bronwen Everill

- 18 January George Bob-Milliar (Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology)
'A Mapping of Resource-rich Precolonial Territories: How do Economic Resources Influence Voting Patterns in Postcolonial Ghana?'
[Venue: Zoom]*
- 1 February A. G. Hopkins (University of Cambridge; Pembroke)
'African Merchants in Lagos: An Exploration in Entrepreneurial History' [Venue: *in person Audit Room, King's College]
- 8 March Jelmer Vos (University of Glasgow)
'The Angolan Coffee Frontier, 1820-1920'
[Venue: in person; Audit Room, King's College]
- 15 March Filipa Ribiero da Silva (International Institute of Social History, Amsterdam)
'Gains and Gainers on Transatlantic Trade in Enslaved Africans and Slave-Based Commodities: Towards a Global Approach'
[Venue: in person; Audit Room, King's College]
- (Postponements: Jelmer Vos's paper is postponed from 1 to 8 March. Kate Ekama's, originally scheduled for 15 February, is postponed until 26 April:
- 26 April Kate Ekama (Stellenbosch University)*
'From Mortgage Holders to Slum Landlords: Compensated Emancipation and the Building of Cape Town, 1830s-1840s'
[Venue: Zoom or in-person, to be confirmed]

The Zoom link will be sent to everyone on the seminar mailing list. To subscribe, wherever you are in the world, please visit <https://www.hist.cam.ac.uk/event-series/african-economic-history>. Whether online or in person, where possible, the speaker provides a paper in advance, which will be sent to those committing themselves to attending.

West Road
Cambridge CB3 9EF
Tel: +44 (0) 1223 335340
Email:
www.hist.cam.ac.uk