

Join us on Zoom, 5-6:15 pm. Links will be circulated through our mailing list and on an individual basis. To register your attendance please email camoceanichistory@gmail.com.

28 January / Control and Captivity in the Eighteenth Century

HENRY SNOW (Rutgers University)

'In Order to Love Mankind, Little Must be Expected from Them': The Eighteenth-Century Royal Navy and the Science of Control

DANIEL J. ENNIS (Coastal Carolina University / University of Portsmouth)

The Ship and the Galley in Barbary Captivity Narratives of the Eighteenth Century

11 February / The Premodern Channel

REBECCA TYSON (University of Bristol)

Eleventh-Century Sea Power in the English Channel

CAROLINE MARRIS (Columbia University)

'Vive le Geus': French and Dutch Maritime States in the Late Sixteenth-Century Channel Region

18 February / Interdisciplinary Session: Art History

ELEANOR STEPHENSON (University of Cambridge)

The Royal Society and Representations of Slavery in Seventeenth-Century Cartography

VERA-SIMONE SCHULZ (Kunsthistorisches Institut /Max-Planck Institut, Florence)

Mangrove Aesthetics in Coastal East Africa: Littoral Spaces, Transcultural Encounters, and Artistic Exchange

11 March / Material Flows and Entanglements in Oceania

ADELE WRIGHT (University of Cambridge)

The History of Colour Terms in Vanuatu Indigenous Languages

KATE TILSON (University of Cambridge)

Mobile Libraries and Medical Knowledge: Missionary Entanglements in the South Pacific and Britain, 1795-1850